

The program is not strongly scalable until  $p$  increase up to 10. However, the efficiency is stable after  $p$  is larger than 10 as the table above shows.

There is no way to find out if the program is weakly scalable as the input we are allowed to use is only input2.txt and there is no comparison with different input size  $n$ .